We're people creating more than a museum!

The Sedona Historical Society is a volunteer community service group. In our efforts to fulfill our mission we operate not only the Sedona Heritage Museum, we also do research, work on preservation and restoration projects, and offer programs and services that educate about local history. We strive to serve the people of our community, both present and future, instilling a sense of community appreciation for and pride in local history.

Keep up with history!

History is not frozen in time; it continues. The Sedona Historical Society builds on what we have. Our exhibits grow and change. It's fascinating work, and fun to meet people who love it.

Many kinds of jobs for you as a volunteer.

Our volunteers greet visitors at the Museum; help to collect, restore, maintain and preserve artifacts; interview pioneers; do various administrative and hospitality jobs; maintain the gardens, and much more. Our volunteers contribute more than 10,000 hours annually. Would you like to join us?

Membership in the Society

We invite you to join with us if you support our goals, and would like to stay more informed.
